i am a sucker for culinary supply stores. so, on principle alone, i was sucked right into star provisions. more than a general store, this is a culinary department store of galactic proportions with an abundance of beautiful kitchen and housewares, the finest of meats and house-cured charcuterie, fresh fish, obscure cheeses, and wines (of which many appear on the menus at anne and clifford's restaurants). not kitchen inclined? not to worry—the extensive variety of prepared foods and baked goods assure that you won't go hungry. so everybody is a star here.
