m: remember when it was 1985 and jelly shoes were the rage? you know the ones—they came in a gazillion colors and kind of hurt your feet. they're back! you would think those of us who suffered through them in the '80s would be wary. but not kaie and me. when we stumbled upon them at solid gold, we bought up two pairs before you could say “sweaty feet.” as you might guess from the name, solid gold, has an affinity for the disco era—yet the clothing and other goodies here never feel too retro. and while you're here, do a little beautifying—the ladies also offer spa services.
