J: Artists interested in the tactile and mechanical art of letterpress are a specific kind of artist. They must employ both sides of their brain, being driven by aesthetics as well as the mechanics of how something is made. Hammerpress's Brady is such a person. His damn fine taste is in perfect balance with the subtle and industrial art of letterpress. At this studio / retail showroom, take your time to take it all in, from the rock posters to greeting cards to custom designed wedding invites. Somehow Brady makes this craft from a bygone era feel totally modern and new.
