A cooperative of six designers plus friends. Sounds potentially interesting, you think? Well, that description is like calling Prince a short guy who plays the guitar. In terms of preparing you for the wonder and delight you will experience here, it doesn't come close. Luna & Curious is like walking through the back of the wardrobe into Narnia. This cooperative of emerging design talent is constantly evolving, and they have guest designers (the friends bit) who showcase here too. For me, it's quintessentially London. I love Luna & Curious—can you tell?
