When shopping for men's clothing in Seattle, my inner compass heads me to Blackbird. But when last visiting, the inner compass that directs me towards clothing for myself aggressively pointed me in a southerly direction towards the stairs at Blackbird. I followed my inner guidance upwards and found chic chick clothing heaven: Birgitta. My camera was on the floor and my arms filled with casual, yet smart urbanware within moments of arrival. And if this didn't ring my bell enough, Nicole just opened a candy shop on site. Now I'm in full swoon.
